WORD FROM THE EXECUTIVE PRINCIPAL

Dear Parents/Guardians

22 October 2021

Your job as a parent is to help your child achieve the optimal balance between being too relaxed and being paralysed by anxiety.

Try to listen, absorb, and contain the distress of your child through affirmation and reassurance. Make sure they know that their worth to you and others is separate from their achievements. Think back to your own youth and remember that when the worst happened, it usually wasn't as bad as you expected: it's what you did next that made the difference. Engaging with challenging experiences such as finals and important exams is essential for young people to develop internal skills and resources, and will provide them with the confidence and emotional resilience needed to cope with the future challenges of work and adult life. Kind regards.

FINAL EXAMINATION TIPS

A lot of students feel overwhelmed by the pressures of exam time. Here is some advice:

Eat! Sleep! Stay hydrated!

Revise ahead of time. Don't cram! You need to put in a little bit of effort ages in advance – not a few days before. There's a difference between long-term and short-term memory recall. Cramming the night before commits to short-term memory. Some people have the capacity to recall loads from short term – they're few and far between though and have a natural gift.

The rest have to commit information to long-term memory to influence recall. Going blank – that's an issue with short-term memory recall. Don't cram.
